Development of resources, research and UNL Extension programming with limited water

Don Adams will review the evolution of commercial farms to laboratories for integrated cropping systems, water conservation and water management. He will discuss opportunities for research and UNL Extension programming with limited water at the UNL Water Resources Field Laboratory and Henry J. Stumpf International Wheat Center.