Presented by
TERRI JAMES
Assistant Extension Educator, UNL Agronomy and Horticulture

The Extension Master Gardener program began in 1973 at Washington State University. Today every state in the United States has a version of that first Master Gardener program. Currently over 100,000 certified Master Gardeners aid in providing unbiased science-based horticulture information to local communities. This presentation will discuss how the Nebraska Extension Master Gardener program is working in Nebraska and how it could be incorporated into your program.
